

Uber Cab Service Analysis

Late Evenings (5pm - 9pm) there is a huge gap between supply and demand. This is because most of the flights land in the evenings. There is a huge demand of cabs, but due to non availability of cabs, the demand is not met.

City to airport pickups in late evening there is very less gap between demand and supply, which implies that cabs are ready to come to the airport during the evenings.

However, in the early morning, there is a remarkable gap for the city to airport route. This is due to huge number of cab cancellations at that timeslot.
